

Bioscience, Inc.

Environmental Products & Services

ISO 9001:2008 Certified

Wastewater Technical Director

Responsibilities of the Wastewater Technical Director:

Candidates for this position (technical ombudsman reporting to the Company CEO) will demonstrate experience and/or proficiency to provide technical support to all aspects of the business, especially product application support for wastewater remedial and related technical support services.

Responsibilities include:

- Competence in wastewater treatment process technology especially activated sludge process technology,
- Training of laboratory and sales employees,
- Safety training of all employees,
- Maintenance of computer resources and computer training of employees,
- Project management of field remedial services,
- Laboratory and product QC and technical services for internal and contracted projects,
- Maintenance of laboratory and manufacturing equipment,
- Management and maintenance of technical data resources,
- Proposing new products or services to meet business opportunities defined by the marketing/sales department,
- Management of research and development projects,
- Management of written definitions of manufacturing processes under ISO 9001:2015 requirements.

Additional Activities

- Development wastewater treatability pilot plant treatment systems.
- Management of quality assurance for all product areas.
- Assistance in management and implementation of ISO Quality System.
- Preparation/presentation of technical papers as time allows.

Experience and Competence Requirements

- Environmental microbiology
- Wastewater treatment process technology (especially common wastewater processes such as activated sludge)
- Environmental chemistry
- Problem-solving ability
- Ability to communicate (written and verbal) technical and non-technical information.

Educational Requirements

Master's degree or better in microbiology, environmental engineering or related scientific discipline; PhD preferred. Combination of education and work experience may substitute for educational requirements.

Bioscience, Inc.

Environmental Products & Services

ISO 9001:2008 Certified

Preferred Skills for the Wastewater Technical Director

Knowledge of laboratory instrumentation and basic electronics technology. Ability to interface with engineers and technicians for product development, modification and repair.

Position Availability: Immediate

Salary and Benefits: Commensurate with experience and capability

Submit resume and cover letter to tzitrides@bioscienceinc.com.